About the Women In Business Network

The Women in Business Network (WBN) is a professional membership organization dedicated to nurturing and supporting women involved in all facets of business in our community. The Network provides an opportunity for women to gather monthly, creating an active network of informed, concerned members supporting and enhancing women in their personal and professional lives. Sharing and learning together, members are strengthening their business and leadership capacities while broadening their understanding of community issues. Founded in 1994, the WBN is sponsored by Cornell Cooperative Extension of Cayuga County.

Our Members

Membership is open to any woman who seeks networking opportunities with working women. Our members include self-employed women, employees of small and large companies, and women in government, banking, education, non-profit and service organizations.

Meetings

Monthly Meetings are typically held on the fourth Wednesday of the month in the Auditorium of Cornell Cooperative Extension's Education Center, 248 Grant Avenue in Auburn, NY, unless otherwise noted. There is no charge for members to attend the monthly meetings and guests are welcome to attend for $3.00. Light refreshments are served.

Meetings include a presentation by a member of the Network or guest speaker. A Business Resource table is available for attendees to exchange business cards or marketing materials. After the presentation there is an opportunity for members to network.
