

Workshop on reducing tillage in vegetable production

This videoconference will focus on both annual and perennial weed control, residue management and equipment in reduced tillage systems.

We will have a panel of seasoned and new reduced tillage growers to discuss weed control, cover crop and residue management, equipment, attachments and fertility.

Robin Bellinder and Rich Bonnano will address specific grower questions on weed management in reduced tillage.

Cornell, Cooperative Extension and grower experience will be shared at this meeting and there will be ample time for interaction with the speakers and for discussion.

The event takes place on Friday, February 11, 2010, 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

It will be held at 5 locations including one at the Farm and Home Center at 121 Second St. in Oriskany NY.
